Who will run ACGFA election?

The Student Government Association wants no part in running a campuswide election to determine undergraduate and graduate representatives to the Advisory Committee on General Fee Allocations, Doug Thomas, former president of the Resident Student Association, said last night at an RSA meeting.

Thomas, a member of the ACGFA ad hoc committee, said SGA is upset because the groups that will be represented in ACGFA this year were not included on the ad hoc committee, which restructured the election process last spring. SGA President Dana Kortrak declined comment last night, but did say SGA will make a statement at its meeting tomorrow.

Women for Women, the Black Student Union and SGA were the only groups with ACGFA representation on the ad hoc committee, Thomas said. SGA is "disappointed" because several groups with ACGFA seating were not included in the ad hoc committee, he said.

ACGFA is a predominantly student group that recommends distribution of general fees to University organizations and other services.

The restructuring of ACGFA this fall followed the appointment of an all-white, all-male committee last year. This year, eight seats have been allocated to various student organizations, who will select their own representatives. A faculty member will be chosen by Faculty Senate and a staff member by the provost.

Four undergraduate students and one graduate student will be selected in an at-large election in November to fill the remaining seats. Under the restructured ACGFA, SGA is to run the campuswide election.

Senate to discuss salary, benefits

Faculty Senate will hold its first meeting of the 1980-81 academic year today at 2:30 p.m. in the Assembly Room, McFall Center.

The senate will discuss such pending business as the preparations of the annual salary and fringe benefits package, the problems of transfer students in regard to receiving honors and awards, and the possibility of changing the academic honesty code.

Iraq bombs Tehran, claims capture of port

But Iranian news sources say Iran 'in full control'

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi warplanes bombed Tehran yesterday and the Iranian radio said the raid killed three people and wounded 65. A British correspondent reported from the battlefield that Iraqis had captured Khorramshahr, a port north of Abadan in the disputed Shatt-al-Arab border waterway, but the Iranians claimed they remained "in full control."

Iraqi forces continued to shell Khorramshahr and the oil refining center of Abadan, both in the southern sector of the front.

The war was launched by Iraq two weeks ago.

Mostafa Chamran, a former Iranian defense minister, reportedly told a news conference in Ahwaz, a third city under attack by Iraqis, that Iraq had thrown 10 divisions, with a total of 100,000 men, into its invasion of Iran.

THE IRANIAN news agency Pars quoted Chamran as saying two divisions were destroyed in "the last two days of fighting" in the Ahwaz area. Ahwaz is the capital of the oil-rich Khuzistan province.

Iran has 200,000 men under arms, said Chamran, who was defense minister in the first post-revolutionary government in Iran after Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini ousted the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's regime in February 1979.

Both Tehran radio and Pars denied reports that Iraqi forces had gained control of Khorramshahr, an important port north of Abadan on the disputed Shatt al-Arab border waterway.

British Broadcasting Corp. Correspondent Christopher Morris reported Iraqis drove Iranian defenders from their positions in fierce house-to-house fighting. He said there was still sporadic shelling and firing on the southern outskirts of the town.

"THE CITY is under the control of the Iranian armed forces and the Iraqi aggressive mercenaries have been forced to withdraw," Pars said. Iraq has claimed a number of times in the past 10 days that its troops had captured Khorramshahr. Each time, Iran denied the claim.

The Iraqi news agency carried a dispatch from Khorramshahr saying "the heroes of the battle are loftily standing" in the city and its port. It said Iraqi forces were rendering various services to the people of the area.

Iraq's news agency said Iraqi planes raided Tehran in retaliation for Iranian raids on civilian targets in Iraq. Baghdad radio said Iranian jets bombed civilian targets near the cities of Kirkuk, Hajomran, Amara and Iftikhar. Iran denied its bombers raided civilian areas of Iraq.

An Iranian who spoke with The Associated Press by telephone said "heavy explosions" were heard in the vicinity of the Tehran airport. Tehran radio reported that the Iraqi planes dropped paper handkerchiefs, toys and dolls and warned citizens not to handle them because they might contain explosives. It gave no details on how the casualties occurred.

Student reps fewer on HRC roster

by Paula Winslow
staff reporter

The 1980-81 Human Relations Commission membership roster probably will be complete within two weeks, but it won't be in the same form as when the controversy-ridden committee was created a year ago.

In accordance with a recommendation recently made by HRC Chairman Reva Anderson, University President Hollis A. Moore, Jr. said he will appoint all 16 voting HRC members, rather than having them appointed by various University officials, student groups and the mayor.

He also will cut the number of student representatives on the commission, as Anderson suggested.

Moore said he would make the appointments "with proper consultation" of the mayor, provost and student leaders.

THE COMMISSION was established "to foster greater understanding of the forces and issues" that divide people of different backgrounds at the University.

Anderson said conflicts last year about HRC's membership prompted her to suggest that Moore take over the appointing process.

The friction arose last winter when Latin Student Union leaders protested Provost and Executive Vice President Michael R. Ferrari's appointment of a classified staff employee to the commission. LSU claimed the employee did not adequately represent its interests.

The Latinos also demanded that a permanent Latino faculty or staff position on the commission be created. When that request was denied, LSU boycotted HRC for the remainder of the academic year.

"DURING THE summer we (HRC) had been somewhat concerned as to the function of the commission and its impact on the campus, and last year it had been very little," Anderson said.

"The majority of our time had been spent dealing with the membership issue and that's unfortunate. The commission was not designed to be concerned with its own membership," she said.

Moore said he would appoint 10 representatives of the administration, continued on page 5

Crane, at rally here, criticizes Carter on economy

by Lisa Bowers
staff reporter

Former Republican presidential candidate Phillip Crane, on hand at a Reagan-Bush campaign rally here last night, downgraded President Carter's handling of the nation's economic situation.

Crane said the country faces a prospect of having the single largest tax increase in history next year.

"We are talking in the neighborhood of a $150 billion tax imposition. All of the rhetorical commitments Carter has made won't stop that," he said.

He noted that the country will have a minimum deficit of $35 billion next year, adding that it is deficits that produce the destruction of the currency.

The Illinois congressman said inflation is the main problem and that the President is avoiding the issue.

"Carter has attempted to deal with inflation through scapegoats. The only real thing that can be done is educate the American people on what inflation is and stop equating inflation with rising prices," Crane told about 100 Republican supporters in the Ice Arena lounge.

"If we look at inflation rates, we essentially have had stable monetary growth until about 15 years ago. But it is now reaching the danger point; it starts escalating and goes through the ceiling."

During a question-and-answer period, Crane told the audience Reagan plans to build up the nation's military, which he says has faltered.

"We will regain the kind of strength we need in the military to avoid conflagration with other countries. But we are opposed to the reinstitution of the draft. It isn't what we need today."

"The problem is lack of adequate pay. It is a national disgrace what we are doing to our people. We really don't have enough experts or highly trained maintenance people. We have to get good people and keep good people," he said.

Americans are questioning the advising ability of the government, Crane said.

"The idea that a bigger government is a better government is something people are wondering about. We can see the economic consequence of the government eating so much of our national pie. Americans are engaging themselves in some soul searching to see just what direction we are heading in," Crane said.

"We are blessed to be Americans and to be able to live in this society. My concern is what kind of society I will be passing on to my children."

"I don't honestly care who saves the Republic, as long as the job is done," Crane added.

On the backstreets looking for Springsteen's newest

About two weeks ago, a record store I used to work at closed. To the casual observer, lack of business is the reason. To the trained, seasoned veteran of the record industry, lack of business is the reason.

Record industry moguls point to all kinds of reasons for the sad state of the industry. But incompetence, from the top of the industry to the bottom is the real reason.

A case in point has to do with the new Bruce Springsteen album. Most fans of Springsteen know he has a new album coming out. But just when it will be released is anyone's guess, including the people for whom he works. Finding out when it will be released

Perry remarks have message for everyone

Dr. Robert L. Perry, acting director for the Student Development Program, had a rather unkind message for University administrators during the Black Student Union meeting last Thursday.

In an address to BSU members, Perry said the University is racist and that minority groups should use pressure, through nonviolent ways, to promote change, even if it means going to court and trying to prove discrimination.

While Perry's idea that the University is racist may be unpopular, it's one the News agrees with.

Look at the statistics, there is a serious lack of minority faculty and staff members (only 1.5 percent). We agree further with Perry that the University is inherently racist—that is while they do not plan racism, they still haven't acted strongly enough against it here.

While the message Thursday night has a great deal to do with the University's minority students, we believe it should have the same impact on the rest of the students.

We would like to think we all learned something during the age of social awareness of the 1960s and '70s. And that most students—not just the minority students—would be willing to work for a cause at the University, especially if that cause was the abolition of any type of racism.

The message of change for the better should be taken to all students because everyone stands to gain if the inadequacies and inequities at the University were remedied.

Charges of racism can be just the beginning for constructive change, or they can be ignored.

The secrets of 1980 line of clothes are bared

BOSTON — In my life as a clothing consumer I have been subjected to a series of sudden visions known as Dressing Room Revelations.

Most of them were unpleasant. Most of them were unnecessary. Most of them were brought to me by that demon of technology, the three-way mirror.

IT WAS in a dressing room, for example, that I discovered what I look like from the back. This is something I really didn't have to know. I could have led a decent upstanding life blissfully ignorant of this information.

It was also in a dressing room that I learned precisely how I appeared in a bathing suit under fluorescent lights in February. Not my best. Definitely not my best. In fact, if I ran a department store, I would make sure that all swimwear dressing rooms were candlelit and equipped with small hand mirrors.

Well, last Saturday, in my biannual venture to the wonderful world of merchandising masochism, I had a different sort of shock. I discovered that I am too tall to buy a skirt. At 5'8" I have been factored out, rejected, eliminated from the entire skirt-buying market of 1980.

Focus

This is something of a shock because I was told by my fortune cookie that this was the Year of the Skirt. What the fortune failed to add — I will never trust another cookie — is that this is the year of the short skirt. Or the year of the short person's skirt. In this case, I think it is okay to say the short woman's skirt, without being accused of sexist language, but you never know.

IN RAPID succession, I tried on a dozen skirts, all of which would have exposed my entire kneecap to chilblains and/or ridicule. My research brought me to the following set of conclusions which I will share with you as a public service. In order to buy a skirt this fall you must:

- (1) Be no taller than 5'3".
 - (2) Be looking for a miniskirt for a Sixties Nostalgia party.
 - (3) Be willing to have your knees surgically transplanted to the middle of your thighs.
- THERE IS, of course, another alternative. You could let down the hem. What is a hem, you ask (and well you may)? A hem is not the sound you make clearing your throat. It is something they used to have in clothes along with seams. What is a seam? A seam is something they used to have in clothes along with dressmakers. What is a dressmaker? That is something stores used to have in the era of covered buttonholes and $30 dresses. What is a $30 dress? Forget it.
- The skirt problem isn't all that unusual. If petite is chic, so it goes. But it isn't that simple. This year there is another wrinkle contained in the favorite song line, "Sam, you made the pants too long."

designing for? Who on earth are they thinking about? The answers are simple. They are designing for themselves and thinking about us.

FOR YEARS, Seventh Avenue has declared various parts of the female anatomy "in" or "out." When they invented the phrase "ready-to-wear" they were talking about the consumers, not the clothes.

Women may not have been slaves to fashion, but we have proved to be, uh, flexible. We have padded our shoulders and girdled our stomachs, retrofitted hips and outfitted sweaters, and generally retooled our bodies from season to season with more speed than General Motors.

Now they have presented us with the supreme challenge. The true elegant, the fashionable woman of 1980, will be the person who changed her height to go with her outfit. Tall by day, short by night (or vice versa), she will be unfettered, liberated from the old archaic limits of mere inches. Hosannah.

Just remember... you read it here first.

'Billygate' reflects on Jimmy Carter

In your Friday editorial "It's time just to drop the issue of 'Billygate,'" you suggest you are "not too sure" whether Billy Carter "did . . . anything wrong."

I would like to suggest that the issue posed by the so-called 'Billygate' affair is the ineptitude of administration officials and not whether Billy "did . . . anything wrong." (After all, Billy is Billy).

The point your editorial misses entirely is that the heart of the issue of 'Billygate' doesn't really have anything to do with what Billy did; it has to do with what the Carter administration did.

In your editorial, you fail to note what the Carter administration did: They gave Billy diplomatic cables, allowed him to summon government limousines, provided him with official briefings and used him as a diplomatic contact.

While there may have been no serious legal wrongdoing, the spectacle of this administration using a beer-swilling, gasoline station operator with no apparent qualifications as a diplomat acting as a diplomatic go-between adds to the already accumulated evidence of the Carter administration's general amateurism and incompetence in its conduct of foreign policy.

Having suggested what your editorial neglected to mention, I agree that we can now move the focus of our attention to other issues.

White House trip impresses Lohr, lobbying for ASA

by Ric Faris

A few weeks ago, about 180 people were listening to an address by Patricia Roberts Harris, Secretary of Health and Human Services, at the White House.

The room was silent except for the sounds generated by Harris' voice. Suddenly the sound of roller skates entered the room, followed by the slap-slap of Amy Carter's jogging body guard.

Amy smoothly skated through the crowd as the secret service man struggled to remain dignified while still keeping the young girl in sight.

FROM HIS VANTAGE point at the right side of the crowd, Dick Lohr watched this transpire. Lohr is a presidential assistant for the Student Government Association and was in Washington to attend meetings of the board of directors of the American Student Association. Lohr was elected ASA vice chairman at a convention in Washington last summer.

The main objective of the meetings was to secure funds and backing for the creation of a National Student Center, Lohr said.

There is an urgent need for a building to house the offices of all national student organizations, he added.

"Right now, most national student organizations operate offices out of apartments. We need a central place where students can go to air their concerns and get advice. The National Student Center would be such a place," Lohr said.

THE PLANNERS of the center tentatively hope to locate it in Washington near George Washington University.

Another objective of ASA's meetings was to lobby against a bill which would cut educational assistance by $1.4 billion.

Although results of voting on the bill were not available, Lohr said he is confident ASA succeeded in substantially reducing the cut.

"ASA has only been in existence for two years and we already have very strong lobbying power in Washington," he said, claiming that its success with the education bill is an example of its lobbying power.

ASA'S POWER comes from the fact that it is the largest student organization ever assembled. It has more than three million members and represents 500 colleges and universities throughout the country. Gary Davidson, president of the American Student Federation, a group which recently merged with ASA, called ASA "a truly representative organization."

ASA's activities, however, were only a part of the reason for Lohr's trip to Washington. Lohr and the rest of the ASA board were invited to Washington by the College Democrats of America, which was hosting a Carter-Mondale Youth Leadership Conference.

Lohr said he was disappointed because he believed CDA was not entirely candid with his organization. In reality, the conference was a "keep Jimmy in the White House" session, he said.

Speeches at the conference were of a political nature and contained quotes like, "Anderson seconded the nomination for Nixon to receive the Nobel Peace Prize," and "Reagan in reality is the one scared to debate," Lohr said.

BUT LOHR WAS careful not to say anything negative about the conference.

The highlight of the conference was the White House reception, Lohr said. The red room, courtyards and front lawn all were opened for the reception. Lohr estimated there were more than 50 waiters carrying sterling silver trays with hors d'oeuvres.

"The whole White House was lavish. There must have been over 100 bouquets of long-stem red roses there.

"I also was very impressed by the security. There were over 50 agents in the vicinity of the reception. They frisked you when you arrived and were not hesitant to pull you aside and do it again if you looked suspicious," he said.

President Carter's appearance at the reception was interrupted by an "important phone call," and Lohr said he was not able to talk to him. Although he was disappointed by not being able to speak to the president personally, Lohr said he was impressed by his White House experience.

But the benefits of Lohr's experience are not limited to him personally.

Lohr brought back ideas that he considers valuable and plans to implement at the University. He received advice from ASA about how to deal with recent rule changes in the Advisory Committee on General Fee Allocations, comment on the advice.

"I also received advice on how to counteract discrimination against white males which I feel is very prevalent at this University," Lohr said.

City Council OKs temporary hike of $1.55 a month for cable-TV

by Geoff Haynes
wire editor

Bowling Green City Council and the Wood Television Corporation agreed on a rate increase agreement last night that will give the cable television firm a temporary 90-day rate hike of $1.55 per month, starting Nov. 1.

The agreement came after a public hearing earlier in the evening and after nearly an hour and a half of discussion at the council meeting where company President Roger V. Wise pleaded with council to pass the raise.

City Council President Bruce H. Ballard said that council voted unanimously to pass the rate increase because they didn't want to give up their bargaining position. After 90 days the city and the cable television firm revert to the old contract at the $5.95 per month rate if the two parties are unable to agree to a new contract.

"WHAT WE are in essence saying is that we approve of the rates and that there are still some things that we want them (Wood Television Corp.) to do," Ballard said.

The rate increase came to a vote after an attempt to table the ordinance to allow for more research on the issue failed. Second Ward Councilman Patrick Ng introduced an amendment to the rate increase ordinance that called for the cable firm to pay a franchise fee to the city if the rate hike was approved.

Representatives to the cable firm agreed to the franchise fee of 3 percent of the gross receipts generated from sales, but council members were still unwilling to totally approve the rate hike because of other questions that they felt were unanswered.

Councilman-at-Large Joyce Kepke wanted an accountant to look over the firm's books to see if the rate hike was justified. Councilman-at-Large Wendell Jones complained of the firm's deposit policy which requires a $15 dollar deposit from subscribers living in rental units. Jones said he felt the policy was discriminatory.

Jones also noted that cable service in some apartment complexes is controlled by landlords who sometimes charge higher prices for the service.

"I think that there are some issues regarding cable television in this town that we ought to pay attention to and I hope that some good things will come out of this action tonight.

Ng said that the council will be considering suggestions for improving the cable firm during the 90 days the city has before a new contract with the cable firm is expected to be signed. Ng said those considerations that the city would attach to the rate hike ordinance when it comes to a vote would involve programming and repair service requirements.

In other council action, the proposed city housing ordinance was not introduced at the meeting by Jones because he said he wanted to have a public hearing on the ordinance before it is introduced to the Council. Jones said he hopes to include any suggestions arising from that meeting in the ordinance.

Series offers opportunity to hear classical music

"It can be fun, hysterical, serious. It can express death itself. It can express the whole spectrum of human emotions or it can express no emotion at all."

Classical music can be this and more, Richard Kennell, assistant dean of the college of Musical Arts, says.

Listening to classical music could be a new experience for most University students who primarily listen to pop and rock 'n' roll, Kennell said.

"Somewhere along the line, people have learned that it is socially unacceptable to enjoy music other than rock," he said, attributing this attitude to commercialization of music, a phenomenon which Kennell thinks encourages people to throw away their music and move on to something else.

It is different than listening to rock because there is no amplification and it is a less socially active experience, Kennell explained.

Listening to classical pieces is unique because of the many levels of involvement it affords the listener, he said.

The more familiar you become with the music — its design, its personality, its history — the more enjoyable and challenging it becomes, he added.

The Musical Arts Center's Festival Series, which opens today at 8 p.m., offers an opportunity for students to acquaint themselves with classical music at the University. Alicia de Larrocha, an internationally acclaimed Spanish pianist, is just one of the eight classical and jazz performances to be presented this year.

Other highlights of this year's series include: Metropolitan Opera star, Maureen Forrester; flutist, Jean-Pierre Rampal; pianist, Alexis Weissenberg; and cellist, Yo-Yo Ma.

WBGU-TV premieres magazine-format show

Tonight is the premier of WBGU-TV's attempt to take a new focus on northwestern Ohio with its first airing of "Wide Angle," a magazine-format show.

The program, according to producer Donna Greenwald, will air at 7:30 p.m., and will differ from some of the magazine programs on commercial television because its focus will be on Channel 57's viewing area.

WBGU recently canceled its news show in order to bring on five new programs to offer "more and varied programming," Greenwald said.

Executive Producer Lincoln Pain, who also will host "Wide Angle," and Greenwald are taping segments of the show with the idea of offering a closer look at what the WBGU viewing area has to offer.

"We're not copying any commercial stations (with the magazine format)," Greenwald said. "We're trying to be innovative and creative."

She added that she hopes the show can offer "an alternative to commercial programs."

"Wide Angle" will include six segments, including news coverage, a human interest or personality feature, a segment devoted to culture, a segment titled "Popular Eye," which will be a commentary on popular trends, a guest commentary segment featuring an expert in a given field, and a closing segment focusing on the "pure beauty of something ordinarily taken for granted," Greenwald said.

While Pain and Greenwald are producing the show, student interns will help film and produce the individual segments.

Greenwald encouraged suggestions from people with unusual hobbies or knowledge of interesting cultures.

She said she hopes that people in WBGU's viewing area will enjoy a "local view on what's happening with them."

Making a lot of racquet

by Craig Hyde

There are days when it seems as though every other person you meet is either a jogger or a recent convert to our nation's fastest growing sports craze—racquetball.

Racquetball has become a pastime for thousands of people who previously had not participated in any sport.

Jim Weghorst, manager of the recently renovated Bowling Green Racquet Club, attributes the immense popularity of the game to the ease in mastering it.

"I think a lot of people are finding that racquetball is easier than tennis," Weghorst said. "It's a game that anyone can play and enjoy. Form is not as critical to the success of the game."

WITH RACQUETBALL, the frustration of getting the ball over the net and keeping it within the boundaries is eliminated.

"Racquetball is a game that anyone with the least bit of athletic ability can enjoy from the first time he steps on the court," said Weghorst, a racquetball and tennis professional.

The game usually is played indoors on a court with four walls and a ceiling. The standard playing area is 20 feet by 40 feet.

A small rubber ball is hit against a wall. The object of the game is to return an opponent's shot before the ball bounces on the floor twice, and to prevent the opponent from doing the same.

Tracy Hahn, assistant manager of the club, said she thinks racquetball is an ideal game for women.

"IT'S GOOD exercise in an hour, and most of the women really get into the competitive aspect as a change from being the spectators," she said.

Hahn said many women make the game a social event.

"They play a game and then they sit and talk for a while, then they play some more. They really seem to love it."

THE STUDENT Recreation Center is one of the on-campus facilities with racquetball courts. It houses 14 courts.

"It's almost impossible to get a court (at the rec center)," University student Jamie Yert said. "But I stick with it. I like to play because I enjoy the competition. It is a one-to-one thing. Either you win or lose."

"Also, with racquetball you can relax your mind and totally concentrate on the game," he added.

For University freshman Carl Benevent, the game is a new-found love. Benevent, who is from Puerto Rico, says he plays every day.

"IT'S MY main sport," he said. "I've always done a lot of water sports, but I found that racquetball is a game I can play well."

Some people seem to think racquetball is a fad and that it will lose out to tennis in the end.

But Weghorst and Hahn disagree.

"A lot of tennis players try racquetball, but in the future most people will start right in with racquet-

'Racquetball is a game that anyone with the least bit of ability can enjoy' ball. This will happen more and more as the game is around longer," Weghorst said.

"Eight years ago no one knew what racquetball was. Now almost everyone has at least tried it," he said.

WEGHORST SEES the televising of racquetball tournaments as a factor in its growth.

"People will watch it on television and they will want to go out and play," he said.

She explained that future generations will be more oriented toward physical activity because they are products of a health- and activity-conscious era.

"As far as the future of the game—I don't think we've reached a peak. More and more people become interested every day," Weghorst said.

faculty and staff, five students, and one city resident to HRC. He added that members whose term did not expire last spring probably would be reappointed.

The original membership structure called for eight administration, faculty and staff representatives and seven students.

Anderson explained that she suggested fewer students be appointed because "the experience of the first year of having seven was that student input and student attendance wasn't what it ought to be."

She also noted that "students didn't have the access to various offices" needed to complete some of the commission's work, whereas faculty and staff members did.

You can't ask for better navigator training than you can get from the United States Air Force. And you can't be better prepared for your own career than by the future that's through the ROTC program.

If you're a young person who's qualified for navigator training, you can get a great start. You can also compete for a leadership that will provide you with experience while you work on your degree.

After a comprehensive course in ground training, you'll continue at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, where ROTC navigators are trained in the skills needed to fly an aircraft.

Following 30 weeks of intensive training, you'll be awarded the silver wings of an Air Force navigator. From there, you'll be sent to the ROTC program in your own school.

Find out about ROTC and the navigator program. Contact your advisor for more information.

GTE's consumer-is-right policy handles complaints of improper billing

Editor's Note: Consumer Corner is a feature of the News written in cooperation with the Student Consumer Union, 405 Student Services Bldg.

by Keith Jameson
editorial editor

Being close to a friend or relative through long-distance phone calls can be a nice change of pace from letters or cards. But it can be a stomach-dropping experience, too, if you're billed by the phone company for being close to a person you don't even know.

That was the case when Pat received his monthly telephone bill last April. One charge listed was $21.70 for a call to Sandusky.

The problem, however, was that Pat didn't know the person who had the phone number in Sandusky, and no one was in Pat's apartment at the time listed on the bill to have made any long-distance phone calls.

Pat went to the Student Consumer Union for advice. According to Mona McCoy, public relations director for the SCU, General Telephone and Electric has a the-consumer-is-right policy concerning mistakes in billing of long-distance calls.

GTE advises students to call its office when a mistake in billings is noticed, McCoy says. From there, the customer will be connected with a tolling office in Marion, Ohio, which will call the office to which the call was placed.

An investigation will be made into the caller's past calling habits, (whether he or she called that number before, or if the number called knows anyone in this area) to see if the customer is trying to defraud the company, McCoy says.

She says GTE told her that most of the improper billing complaints are solved at this point. If they are not, she says, the case is put in a fraudulent case file for further investigation.

The tolling center, McCoy adds, is used to keep fraudulent customers in line so people do not habitually try to sting the phone company.

There are two precautions for people with telephones to avoid improper billing, or to support their claims should improper billing occur, McCoy says.

First, on-campus students should not loan their billing number to friends. Billing numbers have a way of being passed around or lost if they are given out, meaning someone could make their long-distance calls and bill them to the card's owner, McCoy says.

Second, off-campus residents should keep their own record of long-distance calls, including the date, time, which city was called and the length of time spent on the call, she says.

CONSUMER END NOTES: With the increase in factory outlet stores, which sell goods to consumers at a fraction of the retail cost, has come a directory which lists any type of commodity for which a consumer might be looking.

The directory sells for $3.95 and is published in three different regional editions (Detroit-Lansing-Toledo, Cleveland-Youngstown-Pittsburgh and Cincinnati-Indianapolis-Columbus). It is available from Writer's Digest Books, 9933 Alliance Road, Cincinnati. Postage and handling will cost an additional $1.25.

Articles ranging from clothing and candy to pets and plants can be found in the book, with prices varying from 20-60 percent less than retail stores.

RABBIT WINS RACE: The Volkswagen Rabbit again leads all cars in the miles-per-gallon contest, according to a preliminary report by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Only two American cars placed in the overall top 10 list for mileage, and those two (Dodge Colt and Plymouth Scamp) are made in Japan for American companies.

MOBIL 1 MISTAKE: The Federal Trade Commission says Mobil 1 oil may not increase gas mileage; rather it could decrease mileage especially in sports cars and older or high-mileage cars. The oil's low viscosity, which allows it to evaporate easily, is blamed. The FTC reports receiving 3,600 complaints about the oil in a three-year period.

TENDERIZERS MAY BE USED: The Department of Agriculture has approved the use of tenderizers in all types of meat and poultry. Prior to the decision, the department allowed tenderizers to be used only in beef. However, there must be a label indicating the use of tenderizers on the package.

Placement schedule

The following employers will be on campus the week of October 20, 1980 to interview interested candidates:

SIGN-UP ON WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1980 FOR THE FOLLOWING SCHEDULES. SIGN-UP FOR BUSINESS, GOVERNMENT, AGENCIES, AND GRADUATE SCHOOLS WILL BE HELD ON WEDNESDAY, AT 7:30-8:00 A.M. IN THE FORUM OF THE STUDENT SERVICES BUILDING. THERE WILL NOT BE A SIGN-UP SESSION FOR EDUCATION SCHEDULES THIS WEEK.

A DATA SHEET MUST BE TURNED IN FOR EACH SCHEDULE AT THE TIME YOU SIGN UP.

SPECIAL NOTICE: Requests for some type of standardization in data sheets and resumes have prompted the University Placement Services to require candidates signing up for interviews to complete and present at the time of the sign up a "STANDARD DATA SHEET", for each organization with which he/she wishes to interview. Also, only PERMANENT RESIDENTS OF THE U.S.A. will be considered for interviewing.

CITY OF BOWLING GREEN

304 North Church Street
Bowling Green, Ohio 43402

October 1, 1980

Dear BGSU Student:

On behalf of the citizens and the government of the City of Bowling Green, I want to welcome you to our community. We hope that your stay here will be a pleasant, stimulating, and rewarding time in your life.

Attached is some information about the City of Bowling Green which you may find useful as you settle into your residence halls and apartments. If you have any questions, or if you believe we can help you in any way, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Best wishes for the coming school year!

Sincerely,

Alvin L. Perkins
Mayor

I. City Political Structure

The City is divided into four wards. If you live on-campus, you live in Ward 1. Ward 1 also includes the area generally lying east of Main Street, north of Lehman Avenue, and west of South College Drive.

Ward 2 generally includes the area south of Wooster Street and east of Main Street. However, a portion of Ward 1 intrudes on this area and is bounded by South College Drive, Fourth Street, Manville Avenue, and Lehman Avenue.

Ward 3 includes all the area west of Main Street and south of Wooster Street. Ward 4 includes all the area north of Wooster Street and west of Main Street.

The City is governed by an elected Mayor and seven elected Council members. Each of the four wards is represented by a Councilperson, and there are three Councilpersons-at-large. The City is managed on a day-to-day basis by a full time Municipal Administrator appointed by the Mayor. Council meets on the first and third Monday of each month at 8:00 p.m. in the City Administrative Services Building, 304 North Church Street.

II. Useful Telephone Numbers

During your stay in Bowling Green, we want you to feel that you are as much a part of this community as the permanent residents. If you want to contact any City official or any department of the City, the following list should be useful:

Position	Name	Phone
Mayor	Alvin L. Perkins	Home: 352-5630 Office: 352-3541
Councilpersons:
Ward 1	Joseph Corral	Home: 352-0543
Ward 2	Patrick Ng	Home: 352-2428
Ward 3	Bruce Bellard	Home: 352-5876
Ward 4	Patricia McGinnis	Home: 352-5494
At-Large	Charles Barrell	Home: 353-6783
At-Large	Joyce Kepke	Home: 353-2061
At-Large	Wendell Jones	Home: 352-5773
City Administrator	Wes Hoffman	Home: 352-5674 Office: 352-3541

Useful Telephone Numbers

To report a fire	353-5111
To contact the police	352-2571
To call an ambulance	353-5111
To report a gas leak	352-6581

To get City park information	352-3541, Ext. 211

III. Parks and Recreation

As a member of our community, you are welcome to take advantage of the City's parks and recreation facilities. Carter Park on Campbell Hill Road has shelter houses, picnic facilities, and a jogging trail; parking is permitted only in the parking lot at the bend in Campbell Hill Road.

City Park on Conneaut Avenue has two tennis courts, a ball diamond, an outdoor swimming pool, and shelter houses. Wintergarden Park on Wintergarden Road has open space, a wooded area, nature trails, and an enclosed lodge.

Alcoholic beverages are prohibited in all City parks unless special permission has been obtained from the Director of Parks and Recreation. Snowmobile, motorcycle and moped riding is prohibited in all parks except along the paved roadways.

Reservations for shelter houses may be made by calling the Department of Parks and Recreation at 352-3541, Ext. 211, between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. A nominal charge is made for such reservations.

IV. Rubbish Collection

The City picks up rubbish only from one and two-family dwellings. It does not pick up rubbish from the campus or from apartment houses. The University handles its own rubbish pickup and owners of apartment houses contract commercially for this service.

If you live in a one or two-family house, the City will pick up your rubbish in accordance with the following schedule:

Wards 1 and 2	Mondays
Ward 3	Tuesdays
Ward 4	Wednesdays
(If Monday is a holiday, the schedule then becomes Tuesday, Wednesday, & Thursday.)

Rubbish pickup begins at 7:30 a.m. Containers should be placed at curbside only within 24 hours prior to scheduled pickup. Ohio law prohibits the burning of trash.

V. Bicycles

Bowling Green is a university community and there are many bicycles here. Consequently, bicycle theft is a problem. It is wise to lock your bike when you leave it. To help reduce the theft problem and make it easier to trace lost or stolen bikes, they must be registered and licensed. They may be registered on-campus at Campus Safety and Security, or downtown at the City Safety Building, 175 West Wooster Street. The registration fee is $1.00. Please note that bicycle registration is required by law and is not optional with the owner. If you live on-campus and your bike is stolen, report it to Campus Safety and Security at 372-2346. If you live off-campus, report it to the City police at 352-2571.

City law also requires that bikes be equipped with a light on the front, a light or reflector on the rear, and a warning device. Bike riding is permitted on City sidewalks except in the downtown area.

Bike riders are expected to comply with the laws applying to motor vehicles. Thus, you should obey all traffic signals and regulatory signs such as stop signs, ride with traffic, signal when planning to turn, etc. The bicycle laws are strictly enforced, and you run the risk of being fined if you fail to obey them.

VI. Miscellaneous Laws

It is assumed that if you are a licensed driver you are familiar with the State motor vehicle laws, and these will not be repeated here. However, the City does have some of its own laws that sometimes cause problems for students, and these are listed below.

Dogs and other animals are not permitted to run at large. In addition, the County requires the licensing of all dogs. Licenses may be purchased for a nominal fee ($4.00 to $6.00) at the Wood County Auditor's Office in the County Office Building on Courthouse Square. Barking and howling dogs are considered a nuisance and owners can be prosecuted.

City law requires that all snow and ice be removed from sidewalks within 12 hours after the abatement of any storm. If you live off-campus, be sure to check your lease to find out if this is your responsibility as a tenant or whether the landlord will take care of it for you.

City law also prohibits owners or occupants of property to allow the growth of weeds. Again, if you live off-campus, be sure you have an understanding with your landlord as to who is responsible for mowing the grass.

Joggers are encouraged to use on-campus or Carter Park facilities. However, joggers using City streets should run single file facing traffic wearing high-visibility clothing. Joggers may not run on the downtown sidewalks.

Bowling Green has a law that prohibits loud and unnecessary noise. Students hosting parties are responsible for not exceeding certain designated noise levels. There are also laws against disturbing the peace and unruly behavior. If you want to host a party, we suggest you plan it so as to keep it manageable. If a neighbor complains to the police about a loud or offensive party, they of course will have to respond.

There are a number of parking regulations you should know about. Parking is prohibited for more than 24 hours at a time along any public street. Parking is prohibited in the downtown area from 3:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m. Parking is prohibited on sidewalks, and cars in driveways may not overhang or block sidewalks. Parking is also prohibited in front or side yards of houses unless the owner or landlord has provided a hard-surfaced parking area. It is also illegal to park in an alley, on a pedestrian crosswalk, within 10 feet of a fire hydrant, within 30 feet of an intersection, anywhere the curb is painted yellow, or wherever "No Parking" signs are erected. You may not park so as to block a driveway nor may you back into a metered parking space. It is also illegal to park in the grass area along a public street, and you may not park on the left hand side of the street facing oncoming traffic. Parking is also prohibited on any designated "snow street" after the snow has accumulated to a depth of two inches or whenever a snow emergency is declared. Signs have been erected designating snow streets.

Right turns are permitted on red lights after first coming to a full stop, except where posted.

Two other laws sometimes cause problems for students. These are the anti-litter and so-called "open container" laws. Littering is prohibited on both public and private property. It is illegal to possess an open container of any alcoholic beverage on any public property. You should be especially careful of these laws in the downtown area.

We hope the foregoing information will be useful to you, and we hope your years in Bowling Green will be remembered for their enjoyment and accomplishment. We want you to feel that you are a genuine part of this community, and take this opportunity to wish you the best of success in your college career.

Herdsman killed by armed Soviets

PEKING (AP) — Four armed Soviet intruders crossed into Chinese Mongolia, killed a herdsman and then began a firefight with Chinese border guards in which one of the Soviets was killed, the Chinese Foreign Ministry said yesterday.

It was the first China-Soviet border incident reported in more than a year.

China lodged a "strong protest" with the Soviet Union over Sunday's incident, which Peking said began when the intruders crossed the Argun River into Inner Mongolia and tried to abduct a Chinese herdsman. The herdsman, identified as Li Zhong, resisted and was killed and the Soviets opened fire on Chinese frontier guards who had rushed to the scene, the protest note said.

IT SAID THE Chinese fired back in self-defense, killing one Soviet intruder inside China, and the three others escaped in their motorboat back to Soviet territory.

The Chinese protest, delivered to interim Soviet Charge d'Affaires, G.V. Kireev, declared, "In disregard of the repeated warnings of the Chinese side, the Soviet authorities now have created another incident of bloodshed along the Sino-Soviet border, killing a Chinese and encroaching on China's territorial sovereignty.

"It must be pointed out that the Soviet side is doomed to failure in its attempt to profit from creating border tension and that it must bear full responsibility for all the consequences arising therefrom," the note continued.

It demanded that Moscow "punish the culprits of this incident and stop all armed provocations along the Sino-Soviet border."

THE LAST REPORTED border incident between the communist giants came in July 1979, when Peking alleged that Soviet soldiers killed one Chinese and wounded another in a cross-border ambush along the Sinkiang Province frontier.

That came as the two sides were preparing to begin talks on improving relations strained during the last two decades amid Chinese charges of Soviet "imperialism."

Toledo withdraws discrimination appeal

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo Law Director Frank Pizza announced yesterday that the city has withdrawn an appeal of a federal court ruling that it discriminated against women in the police department.

The action clears the way for the city to receive nearly $1.4 million in federal revenue sharing funds.

The grant had been jeopardized because federal law says a city cannot receive revenue sharing money if a court rules that it has practiced discrimination, unless a compliance agreement is reached.

Withdrawal of the appeal was part of such an agreement with the federal Office of Revenue Sharing.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati had ruled in April that the police department had discriminated against women and that the situation was not remedied soon enough. That ruling was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court before being withdrawn yesterday.

Heating up:

Carter challenges Reagan to debate, explain federal funds transfer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — President Carter challenged Ronald Reagan yesterday to meet him in debate and explain how he proposes to transfer federal education and welfare burdens to the states without plunging the federal government deeper into debt.

The president said Reagan has in mind "some kind of massive, undefined federal revenue-sharing program" for shifting the cost of education and welfare "that he has never spelled out to the American people."

The president called that proposal part of a Republican economic program "of implausible promises, improbable assumptions and ill-considered proposals."

BY CONTRAST, Carter said, his own plan deals with "economic reality and respects economic justice."

En route from Washington to Milwaukee, where Carter spoke at a technical school, press secretary Jody Powell gave reporters a White House fact sheet giving a long chronology of Reagan proposals to cut billions of dollars from the federal budget by ending some programs and transferring others to the states.

Powell said part of Carter's tactics in the remainder of the campaign will be to analyze such Reagan proposals.

"It might be helpful for people to focus on the idea of Governor Reagan as president — what he would do as president," Powell told reporter aboard Air Force One.

"We will continue to raise problems like this in a serious and documented way and we will rely on those reporters covering Governor Reagan to get him to explain how he is going to do that," Powell said.

Carter told his audience in a stuffy room at the technical college that there is "a stark difference" between himself and Reagan.

"What we ought to have for the benefit of the American people is a man-to-man debate between me and Governor Reagan so I can say to him 'I've got a question I want to ask. As you put the burden of welfare and education on the shoulders of local property taxpayers, how is it going to be paid for by those already overburdened Americans?'"

"Or if you're going to transfer some sort of tax source to them to finance this program, how is the federal government going to handle the enormous deficit and the enormous inflationary results of that transfer?"

Reagan accuses Carter of 'jimmying' figures for political gain

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Ronald Reagan accused the Carter administration yesterday of trying to boost the president's political standing a month before the election by "jimmying" last week's wholesale price report to show that inflation is easing.

"They have taken to making highly questionable uses of official governmental statistics to sugarcoat the bitter pill that has regularly come from Washington in the line of economic news," the Republican presidential candidate said.

He made his charge at a rally in a crowded shopping center of this suburb of Camden as he set out on a two-week, cross-country trip. He planned to campaign in New Haven, Conn., later in the day before flying to Philadelphia, only miles from here, for the night.

THE WHOLESALE price report released last Friday showed a decline of 0.2 percent, attributed solely to the government's inclusion for the first time of end-of-the-year price discounts for automobiles in its calculations.

Without the auto price discounts, wholesale prices would have risen 0.4 percent and, Reagan said, shown inflation "getting worse, not better."

The GOP candidate said the administration had "changed the rules... they stuck in something that has never before been in there to make it go down."

"Now measured by the way this administration has used the imperial incumbency over the past year, I am not surprised by the recent — forgive me for this — jimmying of official governmental statistics," Reagan said.

"WHAT WE NEED is a change in the economy and not a change in the statistics," he said.

The Labor Department said its decision to include the auto price discounts was made a year ago, and had nothing to do with election-year politics.

The wholesale price report gave Reagan a new political issue as he began the final 30 days of the campaign. National surveys published over the weekend by five major news organizations showed Reagan with a healthy lead over Carter in electoral votes, and three said he had more than the 270-vote majority required to win the presidency.

Reagan told the shopping center crowd and the audience at a GOP fundraiser later that in the days ahead he would focus his campaign on the "missing issues" — issues he said Carter "has utterly refused to talk about in this campaign."

Cleveland aims for income tax approval by copying Columbus

CLEVELAND (AP) — This financially-beleaguered city is taking a page from its fiscally successful southern neighbor, Columbus, in trying to win voting approval of a 33 percent city income tax hike.

When Columbus needs a tax hike for city operations, it automatically earmarks one-sixth of increased tax receipts for capital projects. That allows voters to feel they're getting something for the larger tax payout.

Cleveland Mayor George V. Voinovich has inserted this formula in his proposed tax hike.

IF ENACTED Nov. 4, one-eighth of a proposed 2 percent payroll tax automatically would go for capital improvements.

Cleveland's current income tax is 1½ percent of income.

For the first three years, Cleveland would take in a total of $85.6 million with the boost in tax revenue. The city then would replenish bond accounts that have been raided over the years to finance general fund operations.

Additionally, some $20 million will be used to pay off city creditors.

Starting in 1984, $20 million a year would be used to finance an undetailed capital improvements program.

Weekend wrap-up

Kickers snap losing string

In the span of a weekend, Bowling Green's soccer team snapped a losing streak, was awarded a second-place trophy and had one player enter the record book.

BG, winless in its last three games, was not beaten in two weekend matches as the Falcons captured second place in the second annual Akron Children's Hospital Medical Center Classic at Lee R. Jackson Field.

The Falcons, defending tourney champions of the four-team field, tied Cornell, 3-3, in the opening round Saturday, then blanked Ohio University, 4-0, Sunday.

Cornell, ranked 19th in the nation, captured the tourney crown with a 3-2 overtime victory over host Akron.

THE BIG Red also was awarded a victory, for tournament purposes only, over BG by winning a penalty kick shootout after the two squads failed to score through 20 minutes of overtime.

Dieter Wimmer, BG senior tri-captain, entered the Falcon record book with his three goal, one assist performance. Wimmer's four point weekend gave the midfielder 34 in his career, tying him with former Falcon Dennis Mepharm, BG's all-time scoring leader.

BG, who held a 3-0 advantage over Cornell in the first half, got a goal from Wimmer and a pair from Don Popp.

Wimmer's two scores and one apiece from Neil Ridgway and Steve Theophilus paced BG's romp over the Bobcats, raising the Falcons' record to 2-3-1.

While the Falcons broke out of a scoring slump, notching two goals in their three previous games, defense contributed a large part in the weekend's success. Falcon goalkeeper Joe Koury, in recording his second shutout of the season, was called upon to make a single save against OU.

Harriers 7th in ND race

Sophomore transfer Chris Koehler paced Bowling Green's men's cross country team to a seventh-place finish in last Friday's Notre Dame Invitational in South Bend, Ind.

The meet doubled as a Mid-American Conference dual meet with defending 1979 MAC champion Western Michigan. The Falcons won that race 22-35, their fifth dual meet victory this fall against no losses. All five triumphs have come against MAC opponents.

Koehler, who sat out last year after transferring to BG from the University of Kentucky, finished first for the Falcons for the fourth time this season as he completed the five mile course in 24:19, good for 10th place overall.

STEVE HOUSLEY was the next Falcon to cross the finish line, when he recorded a 29th place time of 24:47. Behind him were Jeff Martin (38th, 24:57), Dave Agosta (61st, 25:12), John Anich (71st, 25:20), Chuck Pullom (72nd, 25:22) and Chris Los (108th, 26:03).

BG coach Mel Brodt called the Falcon performance, "a little disappointing."

"Overall, I would have been more pleased if we had gotten up there a little higher," Brodt said. "Those top four teams, there was no way we could have touched that day. But I think we could have been up a little closer than we were."

Brodt's harriers totaled 109 points, placing them well out of contention for the team title, won by Michigan with 77 points. Indiana and Illinois followed closely with 86 and 88 points, respectively, in the 19-team field.

"They (the Falcons) got their eyes opened a little bit," Brodt said. "Anytime you start thinking you're someone, somebody else comes along and knocks you off. We were awakened to the realization that we have a lot of work to do."

BG will see many of the same teams again later this season in the NCAA regional meet, Nov. 15. Malone College, which placed a surprising fourth with 118 points, will be present at the Ohio Intercollegiate meet in two weeks.

Saturday, the Falcons seek their sixth MAC dual meet win in 1980, when the travel to Muncie, Ind., to tangle with Ball State.

Ryan paces BG runners

Ohio State packed four runners into the top spots in last Saturday's cross country meet with Bowling Green and Kent State and coasted to an easy victory at the University Golf Course.

The Buckeyes totaled 18 points, while BG had 39 and Kent, 75.

BG's Betsy Ryan, who finished fourth overall with a 24:37 clocking on the 6,500-meter course, was the sole runner in the first five who wasn't wearing the scarlet and gray.

For Ryan, it was the third consecutive race in which she led the Falcon contingent.

FOR BG, it was the second straight week that it had to take a back seat to the talented and deep Buckeyes. Last week at the Eastern Michigan Invitational, OSU ran away with the team title, while BG finished third.

BG managed to claim a decisive win over Kent, a Mid-American opponent who placed only one runner in the top 10. A majority of its team struggled out of contention.

"Ohio State didn't bring it's number one runner (Beth Sheridan) to the meet, so I thought we had a chance to beat them," BG coach Sid Sink said. "But they ran real well. There was no way to expect my group to stay up with them today."

Kathy Kaczor returned to the team after missing last week's meet because of an ankle injury. She seems to have quickly regained the form which makes her one of BG's top three runners, as she recorded the team's second best time, 24:59. The other member of the threesome, Stephanie Eaton, followed with a 25:14.

"KATHY WORKED hard this last week in practice, and I was afraid she might have been worn out for the meet, but she ran real well," Sink said.

Saturday, Sink's charges travel to Kalamazoo, Mich., for the Western Michigan Invitational.

Volleyball team hits skid

Bowling Green's volleyball team lost seven of eight matches last weekend dropping its record to 2-8.

BG lost to Cleveland State and Indiana State in separate matches before traveling to Ypsilanti, Mich., where it absorbed five more losses in six matches at the Eastern Michigan Invitational.

Cleveland State defeated the Falcons in three straight games, but BG forced the Indiana State match to the limit before losing. BG took a 2-1 lead in games against ISU behind the strong play of Connie Livchak, Sara Ringle and Patty Zelinskas, but the Sycamores came back to win the match.

"OUR MAJOR problem is working together and confidence," BG coach Sandra Haines said. "We can maintain excellent play for about 11 points, but we can't maintain it throughout a game or match."

BG's problem continued at Eastern Michigan, where all but one of its matches went the distance. The Falcons defeated Chicago-Circle and nearly knocked off national power Kellogg Community College, but lost to Eastern Michigan, Depaul, Northern Kentucky and Michigan.

"We played better on Sunday," Haines said of BG's weekend performance. "The big thing for us right now is that we are starting to gel. It was a good moral victory for us when we went three games with Kellogg and almost beat them because they are a powerhouse team."

The Falcons travel to Chicago this weekend to compete in the Windy City Classic, a "very prestigious tournament," according to Haines.

Among the teams participating will be Kellogg, Chicago-Circle, Florida, Depaul and Nebraska.

Falcon stickers drop two

Two heartbreaking losses to Indiana State and Wooster overshadowed Bowling Green's 1-0 field hockey win last weekend against Kent State. The Falcons lost to ISU 3-2 in double overtime and 2-0 to Wooster.

"Overall, between Friday and Saturday, we definitely played the best we have all year and maybe in three seasons," BG coach Pat Brett said.

Freshman goalie Terri Stanton continued to play well, recording her second shutout of the season against Kent.

"Terri had a super weekend," Brett said. "She has been doing a good job in goal."

The BG-Indiana State game was deadlocked 1-1 at the end of regulation and 2-2 at the end of the first overtime before the Sycamores were able to claim the victory.

Brett said that the Falcons, 3-4, had "a lot of missed opportunities" against Wooster that would have made the game even closer than the final 2-0 score. BG will host Miami Thursday in a 4 p.m. match on the field west of the stadium.

Golfers 8th in ECU tourney

With temperatures ranging between 40 and 50 degrees at the Eastern Kentucky University Fall Classic last weekend, the Bowling Green men's golf team finished eighth in a field of 18 teams.

The Falcons shot rounds of 288, 304 and 303 for a team total of 895. The tournament was won by Ohio State (845) who will be host team for the Falcons next tournament this weekend.

"We were really pleased with the 288 (even par) the first day," said coach John Piper, "but the 304 and 303 were only mediocre."

THE FALCONS were led by senior Mark Nickerson, who shot a two over par 218 (72-74-72) and finished 15th in a field of 90.

"That was Mark's best college tournament," Piper said. "He was pleased and his teammates were pleased for him. As a team we need a bit of work on our putting before Ohio State."

Finishing second on the squad was Mike Dzienny, who fired a 224 (73-75-76), one stroke better than teammate Gary Battistoni at 225 (72-76-77). Rounding out the field for the Falcons were Brad Turner with a 230 (71-81-78) and Jean Larochelle with a 236 (79-79-78).

Victory:

Spengler's boot gives BG first win

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — It was an all too familiar spot to John Spengler.

The senior placekicker had been called upon in the final minute of games against Eastern Michigan and Long Beach State for a field goal that would win the contest.

He found himself in the same spot Saturday at Waldo Stadium when the Falcons needed a 37-yard field goal with 13 seconds left in the game to defeat Western Michigan. While Spengler's two previous attempts fell short, this time he had the mark, giving the Falcons a 17-14 Mid-American Conference victory over the Broncos.

The win was the first in five games for the Falcons, and evened their MAC record at 1-1. Western fell to 2-1 in the conference and 3-2 overall.

"THIS IS the ultimate for a placekicker," Spengler said. "I'm glad I had the chance to win it. I didn't think about the three other attempts at all, but just kept my head down and kicked."

Spengler's kick culminated a six play, 49-yard drive in 1:49 after the Broncos tied the score at 14-14. BG took the kickoff at its own 31 and moved to the WMU 33 on a two-yard run by sophomore tailback Bryant Jones and a 32-yard pass from quarterback Dave Endres to Jones down the left sideline.

The play was the first time the Falcons ran it this season and caught Jones by surprise.

"I didn't hear the correct play at first," he said. "We've never run it before and I've never lined up in the slot before. We call it switch because I switch positions with (Dan) Shetler when we run our patterns."

The switch caught the Broncos off guard as much as Jones, according to BG coach Denny Stolz.

"It's knowing that Western was going to blitz," the fourth-year coach said. "We had to have four receivers because by blitzing, they were only going to have three backs covering."

THE GAME began like the previous four with a Falcon turnover leading to the opposition's first score.

BG received the kickoff and could not dent the Broncos' defense for a first down. Jeff Higgins went back to punt, but bobbled the snap, and the Broncos recovered at the eight yard line.

It took WMU only one play to score with quarterback Tom George running the option around right end for a Western lead with only 1:23 gone in the game. Alton Laupp added the extra point kick for a 7-0 Bronco lead.

The Falcons came back, taking the ensuing kickoff at their own 26 and driving downfield. BG got substantial yardage up the middle with Jones and Tom Glendening carrying the bulk of the time. Chip Otten capped the 74-yard drive with a two-yard dive up the middle. Spengler's extra point kick was good, and BG tied the score with 7:49 left in the quarter.

The Falcons took the lead with 3:37 left in the third quarter as quarterback Greg Taylor's sneak from one-yard out put BG up. Spengler's 61st consecutive extra point gave the Falcons a 14-7 advantage.

Western came marching back on the ensuing kickoff, getting to the BG 17. The drive was aided by a personal foul on the kickoff, giving WMU the ball at its own 44.

BG shut down the touted Western running attack, but the Broncos went to the air and moved to the Falcons' 17. Facing a second-and-10, George went to the pass again, but his aerial was picked off by linebacker Doug Carr at the BG eight with four seconds left in the third quarter, stalling the drive.

AFTER TRADING punts, Western took over at its own 35 with 12:13 left in the game. Again the Broncos went to the air for yardage, and got 42 yards on the pass from George to Reggie Hinton down to the BG 12. Seven plays later, George pitched to reserve running back Rob Stickles, who went in for the score from one-yard out. Laupp's conversion kick was good for a 14-14 tie with 8:22 left.

After the Falcons could not move the ball, Higgins punted to the Broncos' 32. George again went to the air, and moved to the BG 31 before the drive stalled. Laupp came in for a 48-yard field goal, but the ball was short and the Falcons took over.

Western coach Elliot Uzelac said the BG offensive and defensive line played a major role in the win.

"They (BG) won it in the trenches," he said. "Their offensive and defensive line outplayed us. We should have gained more yards inside."

A leg injury to George in the Michigan State game also was a hinderance to the Broncos, according to Uzelac.

"With George hurt, we couldn't run the option well," he said. "At the half we weren't sure if he would play the rest of the game. It limited us a lot when he got hurt. We thought we could win it, but we couldn't quite get it done."

BG tailback Chip Otten goes over the top for yardage near the goal line in Saturday's 17-14 win over Western Michigan at Waldo Stadium. Defending on the play for the Broncos is Jim Hinkle (31) and Karl Butts (12). The win was the first for BG in five games and evened its conference mark at 1-1.

Young players mature quickly for gridders

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Denny Stolz was smiling in the lockerroom for the first time in a long time Saturday.

His team had just defeated Western Michigan for the Falcons' first win of the season. Although it was another game that came down to the last minute, the law of averages worked out this time for BG. BG was getting closer. It had lost its first four games by four, two, two and one points.

"It seemed like we played 400 quarters in the last minute on that sideline," Stolz said. "It's a good sign of a good football team to be able to drive like that late in the game. We had good poise and our young players played well."

THE GOOD play from young players came from quarterback Greg Taylor and tailback Bryant Jones on the offense. Taylor was able to throttle the Bronco defense by running the option with the poise of an experienced senior. Jones had another strong game with 96 yards in 16 carries. His longest effort of the day was 20 yards that set up the Falcons' first touchdown.

While the young players did their part on offense, seniors Dave Endres and Dan Shetler provided the experience needed on the Falcons' final drive.

Stolz brought in Endres on passing situations, and the Cincinnati native responded by completing three of five passes for 44 yards. His 32-yard aerial to Jones set up the winning field goal.

Shetler, although he did not catch a pass in the game, helped by lining up Jones correctly on the long pass play.

"I can't blame Bryant for not lining up correctly," Stolz said. "but that's the advantage of having two seniors (Shetler and Endres) in the game. They told Bryant to go and we saved the play. I'm not sure Greg would have done that."

Defensively, the Falcons limited the Broncos to 110 net yards rushing in the game. Western had been averaging 298 yards a game on the ground. The secondary yielded 142 yards through the air, and is still in need of help. But the Falcons picked off three Western passes, one by Doug Carr that stopped a touchdown drive at the BG eight.

IT WAS a good win for the Falcons to start their "second season." It might be what BG needed to turn their mistakes into positive points. The Falcons face another tough battle this Saturday in the Glass Bowl against Toledo.

BG compiled 170 yards on the ground and another 44 through the air for 214 total yards. Western had 252 total yards in the game. Todd Gates, Jim Baarman and Joe Merritt led the defense with 10 total tackles each. Gates had three sacks for nine yards.

Toledo may be faced with forfeiting its win over Eastern Michigan for playing with an illegal player. Placekicker David Ridgway's eligibility is in question because of the senior's alleged arrangement with a professional representative. Ridgway did not play in the Rockets' 14-10 loss to Central Michigan Saturday, after Coach Chuck Stobart learned of the arrangement between Ridgway and a Canadian attorney.

Saturday in the MAC, Miami was whipped by Purdue, 28-3; Ball State lost to McNeese State, 27-7; Kent State nipped Ohio, 15-14 and Northern Illinois beat Southern Illinois, 20-17.

Astros win first-ever NL division title, whip Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Houston Astros won their first divisional title in their 19-year history yesterday routing the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-1 in a playoff for the National League West championship behind Joe Niekro's six-hitter.

The Astros' victory, coming after three straight one-run losses to the Dodgers that forced the playoffs, advanced them to the NL Championship series against the Philadelphia Phillies starting tonight.

THE ASTROS opened quickly with two unearned runs in the first inning off Dave Goltz, 7-11. Leadoff batter

Terry Puhl reached first on Davey Lopes' error at second and advanced to third on Enos Cabell's single. Cabell then stole second as Joe Morgan struck out.

Joe Cruz hit a grounder to Mickey Hatcher at third and Hatcher's throw home was dropped by catcher Joe Ferguson for an error, allowing Puhl to score and send Cabell to third.

Cesar Cedeno then scored Cabell with an infield groundout for the second run of the inning.

In the third, Howe hit his 10th home run, a two-run shot, scoring Cesar Cedeno, who had singled.

THE ASTROS opened their lead to 7-0 with three runs in the fourth off three Dodger relievers. After loading the bases on two walks and a bunt single by Puhl, Cruz hit a sacrifice fly to center. A walk to Cedeno reloaded the bases and Howe bounced a single to center to score two more runs.
